“Wings Over the Pacific” Air Show premium seating tickets go on sale Aug. 22

PEARL HARBOR-HICKAM – The 2014 “Wings Over the Pacific” Air Show will take place on Sept. 27-28 at Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam and feature the U.S. Navy’s world-famous flight demonstration squadron, Blue Angels. They will be joined by the U.S. Navy Parachute Team, commonly known as the “Leap Frogs,” who will also be performing a variety of their own aerial demonstrations. The F-22 Raptor Demo Team will offer a rare performance appearing at only 20 air shows in North America in 2014. These acts and more, are scheduled to perform both days subject to weather conditions.

The air show is open to the general public and both parking and admission are free. Gates open on Saturday and Sunday at 10 a.m., and patrons are encouraged to carpool and arrive early. Security restrictions and authorized items are listed on the event website.

“Wings Over the Pacific” will offer a variety of static displays with both vintage and modern aircraft, food and merchandise booths and an “Xtreme Fun Zone” for the kids featuring rides, games and more. For those who wish to upgrade their viewing experience, premium seating tickets are available and will go on sale beginning Friday, Aug. 22. Two levels of premium seating will be offered, with special pricing for military:
