

of NAF Atsugi and Ebina City. (U.S. Navy photo by Mass Communication Specialist Seaman Apprentice Vivian Blakely/Released)

110926-N-TO330-010 EBINA, Japan (Sept. 26, 2011) – Captain Eric Gardner, commanding officer of Naval Air Facility (NAF) Atsugi, visits with Mr. Masaru Uchino, mayor of Ebina City, at Ebina City Hall while they wait to attend an appreciation presentation from the students of Shiroishi Junior High. Shiroishi was one of the first cities to receive relief supplies directly following the March 11 earthquake and tsunami through the joint effort

Specialist Seaman Apprentice Vivian Blakely/Released)

110926-N-TO330-175 EBINA, Japan (Sept. 26, 2011) – Capt. Eric Gardner, commanding officer of Naval Air Facility (NAF) Atsugi, addresses the student of Shiroishi Junior High school during an appreciation presentation made by the students themselves. Shiroishi was one of the first cities to receive relief supplies directly following the March 11 earthquake and tsunami through the joint effort of NAF Atsugi and Ebina City. (U.S. Navy photo by Mass Communication

110926-N-TO330-211 EBINA, Japan (Sept. 26, 2011) – Capt. Eric Gardner, commanding officer of Naval Air Facility (NAF) Atsugi, stands ready to participate in the presentation of 1,000 paper strokes to the Shiroishi Junior High students during an appreciation presentation from the students. Shiroishi was one of the first cities to receive relief supplies directly following the March 11 earthquake and tsunami

through the joint effort of NAF Atsugi and Ebina City. (U.S. Navy photo by Mass Communication Specialist Seaman Apprentice Vivian Blakely/Released)

110926-N-TO330-349 EBINA, Japan (Sept. 26, 2011) – Capt. Eric Gardner, commanding officer of Naval Air Facility (NAF) Atsugi, participates in a small tree planting ceremony with Ebina City officials as well as students from Shiroishi Junior High following an appreciation presentation from the Shiroishi students. Shiroishi was one of the first cities to receive relief supplies directly following the March 11 earthquake and tsunami through the joint effort of NAF Atsugi and Ebina City. (U.S. Navy

photo by Mass Communication Specialist Seaman Apprentice Vivian Blakely/Released)