

Lieutenant Dan, what are you doing here?

It's been a long time since people have heard someone say, "Life is like a box of chocolates", but on Sunday Dec. 17, that and other popular quotes from the movie 'Forrest Gump' were being thrown around GTMO like 'Run, Forrest Run.'

"Lieutenant Dan, what are you doing here?" was asked by actor Tom Hanks to actor Gary Sinise, in the extremely popular 1994 film Forrest Gump, a role for which Gary Sinise earned an Oscar nomination for best Supporting Actor. "Lieutenant Dan" (Gary Sinise), which he's probably best known for and his band of musicians calling themselves the Lt. Dan Band, played a packed Downtown Lyceum concert on Sunday, Dec. 17.

The band played cover tunes from a variety of artists, such as 'The Who'; Jimi Hendrix;

We support you! This was the theme of this special concert that the Lt. Dan Band had for GTMO personnel and their families, at the Downtown Lyceum on Sunday, Dec. 17.

Maria Carey; The Police and even Aretha Franklin.

"This is probably the best concert I've seen in GTMO," said AT1(SW/AW) Matthew Murcin. I've been here for two years and this was awesome. The sound quality was excellent and he (Gary Sinise) really can play the bass well. It was great."

The music list was as diverse as the band themselves. The band consisted of Gary Sinise, Bass; Kimo Williams, Guitar/Vocals; Gina Gonzalez, Vocals; Mari Anne Jayme, Vocals; Jeff Vezain, Vocals; Kirk Garrison, Trumpet; Danny Gottlieb, Drums; Beth Gottlieb, Percussions, Ernie Denov, Guitar; Ben Lewis, Keys and Carol Williams, Sax/Flute.

During portions of the concert the band members pulled people from the audience onto the stage to dance to several of their numbers. The play list went from hard rock to soft classics and back again throughout the evening. Kimo Williams, a band member who's also a Vietnam veteran, got the crowd singing and cheering with a rendition of Jimi Hendrix's "Purple Haze."

As part of the USO and 'America Supports You', he and his band have given back

Special message from the SECNAV, Donald C. Winter

Each year during the holiday season, Americans celebrate the promise of renewal and the possibilities of peace. Your dedicated efforts enable us to enjoy these rich blessings at home, while bringing hope to people throughout the world.

Each of you, whether on active duty, a member of the reserve component, a civilian, or a family member has played an integral part in giving the greatest gifts, gifts of peace, promise, freedom and, in many situations, life itself to countless millions.

You have paid for them with your unequalled dedication, selfless sacrifice and boundless energy. Thank you for your unwavering devotion.

Donald Winter,
Secretary of the Navy

Many of you will spend this holiday season far from home, at war, in a hostile environment. Although it is never easy, your sacrifices come at a vital time for our nation. You can be justifiably proud of your steadfast service. Devoting oneself to a life of service is a noble endeavor; your nation and your fellow Americans thank you and are proud of you.

Your families equally share the unavoidable burdens of separation and anxiety associated with the profession of arms, and I thank them as well for their dedication and sacrifice.

Wherever you gather to share the spirit of the season with family and friends, stay safe and keep those at sea and on the front lines in your thoughts and prayers. May God grant you and your families continued blessings in the New Year, and may God continue to bless this United States of America.

Why TSP?

By Army Sgt. Sara Wood,
American Forces Press Service

"More service members need to take advantage of the Thrift Savings Plan (TSP), because it is an attractive investment option with unique benefits for military members, the military officer in charge of the Armed Forces Tax Council," said Army Maj. John Johnson, director of the Armed Forces Tax Council.

TSP, a retirement savings plan for service members and civilian federal employees, right now draws participation from about half of the military.

TSP is a tax-deferred fund, which means the money contributed to the account is deducted right away from the person's taxable income, and the money in the fund isn't taxed until it is withdrawn at retirement.

As of this year, military members are unlimited in the amount they can contribute to TSP, Johnson said. Now the only limit is the Internal Revenue Service's $15,000 per-year limit on contributions to tax-deferred accounts, he said.

TSP is not like a savings account, Johnson emphasized, and the money contributed to it should be money that people aren't going to need soon. However, TSP does have a loan program for situations such as a first home purchase, where participants can borrow money from their own account and then pay it back at a market interest rate. TSP is a great benefit that is overlooked by a lot of military members, Johnson said.

Service members can sign up for TSP online at www.tsp.gov, Johnson said. This Web site offers all the tools troops need to get started in the program and manage their accounts.

Federal court rules against GTMO detainee

By Sgt. Sara Wood, USA, American Forces Press Service

A federal court ruled recently that detainees at GTMO, do not have the right to challenge their detention in U.S. courts.

Judge James Robertson issued a decision and order in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia dismissing the habeas corpus case of Salim Ahmed Hamdan, a former driver for Osama bin Laden.

Robertson concluded that the Military Commissions Act unambiguously withdraws the right of habeas corpus, which allows people who are imprisoned to go before a judge and challenge their detention from detainees and that this withdrawal is constitutional.

"The Suspension Clause does not guarantee the right to petition for habeas corpus to non-resident enemy aliens captured and detained outside the U.S.," wrote Robertson.

In other words, Congress may constitutionally deprive these detainees of the writ of habeas corpus.

DOD officials said they were pleased with Robertson's ruling, as it removes federal court jurisdiction over Hamdan's case and similar cases.

"We hope to bring individuals before commissions by next summer," said Bryan Whitman, DoD spokesman. There are still facilities that need to be built in order for commissions to proceed, and we're working on that."

Robertson granted Hamdan's first habeas petition in Nov. '04, and the case made it to the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court ruled in June that President Bush had overstepped his authority in creating the military commissions. In Sept., Congress passed the Military Commissions Act, authorizing military commissions and clarifying the rights of detainees, specifically on the issue of access to courts.

NEX settles the score against Fire Dept.

Story by Troy Brooks, and MCI Igo Wordu

The Fire Department's soccer team's quest to end the Navy Exchange's long dominance in GTMO's soccer competitions was put out by NEX who won this year's MWR-sponsored Captain's Cup finals 3-0, at Cooper Field, Dec. 15.

As expected, the game was an evenly contested affair as both teams put up magnificent display of pure soccer dexterity, leaving no doubts in the minds of their opponents their intentions to win the championship and bragging rights as soccer kings of GTMO.

Fans, who turned out in large numbers, packed the bleachers doing everything they could to cheer for their respective teams.

Prior to the game, NEX coach, Rayon Edwards, demanded victory from his team.

"If we play like we have been doing for the past three years, this should be another easy victory," Edwards said.

NEX Men's soccer are Captain's Cup champions.

Fire Department, entered the finals without their premier striker, Damien Carney, who was unable to play.

That notwithstanding, Fire Department's coach, Deanroy Tulloch, challenged his team to go all out for the victory.

But NEX wasted little time in imposing their dominance as they piled pressure on the Fire Department's defense from the first blast of the whistle. It wasn't long before they broke the deadlock through Craig Campbell's 16th minute strike.

Campbell collected Merton Gray's pass inside the 18-yard box before he struck a sensational shot to put NEX up 1-0.

NEX' second goal came five minutes later when Marlon, fired a tame shot, which the goalie failed to hold on to. Marlon then pounced on the rebound giving NEX a 2-0 lead.

The half should have ended 3-0 in favor of the NEX, but Campbell's goal was judged offside.

The second half began with NEX picking up where they left off, forcing the Fire Department to chase the ball around.

The third goal was as good as anyone would have seen in any European club championship. Merton Gray, surrounded by three defenders, was able to dribble his way through the crowd before placing a well-timed pass to Campbell inside the 18 yard box. Campbell's shot gave the goalie no chance of saving it, proving why he is GTMO's all-time scorer with more than 200 goals in the last four years.

Omar Nelson got the best chance for the Fire Department when NEX sweeper, Courtney Dixon, took one touch too many and was robbed of the ball by Omar, however, his shot was well saved by NEX's goalie.

In the final 10 minutes of the game, NEX proceeded to play some Brazilian-style soccer as they ran circles around the Fire Department. Merton Gray, made his trademark dribble on the left flank, leaving Fire Department's defender, Frazer in the dust before firing a shot that narrowly missed the goal post.

At the end of the game NEX where crowned champions. At least, they get to keep the bragging rights for another year.

much of their time to servicemembers around the world in the past couple of years.

"You're all volunteers, and this is our way of doing what we can to support you," Sinise said. "And it's important for us to get out and entertain for you. I just want to let you know that we care about you very much. We really appreciate the sacrifices your making here, we really love you guys a lot," he added.

"I thought they were a very versatile group and the music seemed to be enjoyed by all, said JoAnne Willey, Dental Receptionist, Naval Hospital GTMO. "We need more musical entertainment like this!"

The band has performed as far away as Singapore, the Middle East and back in the states. Besides taking time to visit GTMO before the holidays, Lt. Dan also has other interests that keeps him busy. He's currently on the hit television show "CSI: N.Y.," hold benefit concerts around the states for veterans groups and active duty servicemembers who are hospitalized for an illness, disease or injury and raises money for children in Iraq.

Co-founded by Sinise is Operation Iraqi Children, it's a program that enables Americans to send School Supply Kits to Iraqi children. You can find this online at <http://www.operationiraqichildren.org>.

Schedule announced for release of tax statements

Story provided by American Forces Press Service

Servicemembers, military retirees and annuitants, and federal civilian employees paid by the Defense Finance and Accounting Service can expect to receive their 2006 tax statements beginning this month, DFAS officials announced.

DFAS customers with access to the secure, Web-based "myPay" system will be able to retrieve their tax statements electronically up to two weeks sooner than those relying on regular mail delivery, officials said.

The myPay system includes layers of defense against identity theft, officials noted, adding that its technology meets or exceeds security requirements in private industry worldwide.

"Tax statements are available online, allowing customers to view and print W2s and 1099Rs. Whether anyone needs the statements to complete taxes or just want an extra copy for their records, the tax statements can be accessed and printed at any time," Patrick Shine, DFAS operations director, said. "The printable statements are approved by the Internal Revenue Service."

Here are projected distribution dates for DFAS customers' tax statements: — Retiree Annual Statement: Available on myPay Dec. 9, mailed via U.S. Postal Service Dec. 16-31; — Retiree 1099R: Available on myPay Dec. 15, mailed Dec. 16-31; — Annuitant Account

Statement: Available on myPay Dec. 18, mailed Dec. 19-31; — Annuitant 1099R: Available on myPay Dec. 18, mailed Dec. 19-31; — VSI/SSB W-2: Not available on myPay, mailed Jan. 4-5; — Active Duty Air Force, Army, Navy W-2: Available on myPay Jan. 22, mailed Jan. 23-29; — Reserve Air Force, Army, Navy W-2: Available on myPay Jan. 2, mailed Jan. 5-8; — Marine Corps active and reserve W-2: Available on myPay Jan. 5, mailed Jan. 9-10; — Civilian employee W-2: Available on myPay Jan. 9, mailed Jan. 11-18; — Savings Deposit Program 1099INT: Available on myPay Jan. 19, mailed Jan. 19-20; and — Vendor Pay 1099: Not available on myPay, mailed Jan. 27-31.

Shine added that current myPay account holders can eliminate the costs associated with generating and distributing the tax statements immediately by signing up and using myPay.

A personal identification number, or PIN, is required to use the system, and eligible users can apply for one at the myPay Web site, www.mypay.dfas.mil. Users with military e-mail addresses — addresses in the .mil domain — or a pre-registered personal e-mail address can receive their new PIN via e-mail. All others will receive their new PIN via mail in about 10 working days from the date of request, officials said.
