(PEARL HARBOR-HICKAM, Hawaii) - Navy Region Hawaii is accepting applications to fill 60 civilian Security Guard positions in Hawaii. Closing date is midnight, January 24 (EST), and start dates are in May and July to coincide with five-week academy classes. Salary ranges from $31,960 to $41,544 per year plus a 12.25% cost of living allowance.

Interested candidates must be U.S. citizens and should apply at www.usajobs.gov. Search for job announcement NW20085-05-5903754B193959-D or for Security Guard, GS-0085-5 at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Positions are full time, permanent and subject to uncommon tours of duty, call back and emergency overtime. Selectees must pass physical exams, agility testing, drug testing, and obtain and maintain a security clearance.

Navy Region Hawaii provides installation protection services to all Navy installations in Hawaii to include the Pacific Missile Range Facility on Kauai, Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam, Lualualei, the Naval and Computer Telecommunications Area Master Station in Wahiawa, and West Loch. The majority of the positions will be located at Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam.

The civilian Security Guard positions are being established to replace contract gate guards and provide continued installation security. Public Law 107, which permits the federal government to contract guard services, will expire on Sept. 30, 2012.
