

Coast Guard celebrates 221 birthday

By MC2(AW) Jason T. Poplin

MANAMA, Bahrain — Service members assigned to Coast Guard Forces Southwest Asia honored U.S. Coast Guard Day with a cookout and live music at Naval Support Activity (NSA) Bahrain, Aug. 4.

Held this year in recognition of 221 years of service, Coast Guard Day is an annual commemoration of the founding of the United States Coast Guard.

U.S. Coast Guard Lt. j.g. Matthew Lane said that even though Coast Guard Day is primarily an internal service celebration, all were welcomed to attend.

“We opened up the event to the community and encouraged everyone to come out to celebrate with us,” Lane said.

Founded on August 4, 1790, by Secretary of the Treasury Alexander Hamilton, the Revenue Marine was established to enforce the first tariff laws enacted by Congress. From a fledgling fleet of ten cutters, the Revenue Cutter Service merged with the Life-Saving Service in 1915 to become the United States dedicated entity to saving life at sea and enforcing U.S. maritime laws under its new name, the U.S. Coast Guard.

U.S. Coast Guard Fireman Timothy Fox said celebrating Coast Guard Day in remembrance of the service’s history was a rewarding experience for all Coast Guardsmen in attendance.

“We take into consideration how many people have been in the service before us and we’re still continuing along with the same mission they fulfilled previously and that feels pretty good,” he said.

The celebration concluded with a cake cutting ceremony performed by Coast Guard Patrol Forces Southwest Asia, Commodore, Capt. Cameron Naron and Commander, U.S. Naval Forces Central Command, Vice Adm. Mark Fox.

MANAMA, Bahrain — Naval Support Activity Bahrain’s (NSA) Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC) hosts a multitude of programs designed to support individual and family readiness as well as adaptation to life in the military.

Among these programs is FFSC’s monthly Smooth Move transition assistance class which helps service members gain information required to successfully navigate the Permanent Change of Station (PCS) process.

FFSC’s Relocation Assistance Programs Manager Polly Haag said the program benefits service members and their families because it hosts representatives of all the entities that will be utilized during their PCS transition.

“This class provides a wealth of information and connects the PCSing family and service members with the direct support they need to make the process a smooth one,” Haag said.

The camp, open to kids ages 5 to 12, began in June and will run through Aug. 18. CYP Youth Activities Director Amanda Thornton said the camp is a great opportunity for new families to allow their children to get accustomed to the environment by meeting new friends and exploring the country. "It also gives those new parents a chance to get adjusted and settled into life in Bahrain with the peace of mind that their child is having fun in a safe, fun and healthy environment," she said.

Children build vehicles in one of the many play areas at camp. The camp hosted more than 30 kids each week.

They also went on weekly field trips to local places such as Play!, Magic Planet and the Bahrain National Museum. Amelia, 5, said her favorite field trip was to Wahoo! water park. "It was really fun when the bucket dumped water on us!"

Respecting religious differences

By Cmdr. Chin Van Dang

A man places a bouquet of flowers on a grave. He notices a Chinese man offers a bowl of rice on the grave next to his. He asks the man, "When will your loved one return to eat the rice?" "When your loved one comes back to smell the flowers."

Ramadan occurs each year when the new moon is sighted in the ninth month of the Islamic calendar. This is the first time in 33 years that Ramadan has been celebrated in August. During this month of Ramadan, which will end on or around Aug. 30, each of us needs to demonstrate a higher respect and better understanding of the Muslim observation of Ramadan Fast by refraining from eating, drinking and smoking in public during daylight hours. Wearing appropriate attire during this occasion is also a gesture of our respect.

A Hindu priest, a rabbi and a businessman were driving down the road, when the car breaks down late at night. Fortunately finding a farmhouse nearby, the farmer informed them that he had only one spare room and that it had only two twin beds. They were welcome to it, but one of them had to sleep in the barn. After some discussion, the priest volunteered to go to the barn. A few moments later, a knock on the bedroom door, and the Hindu priest explained that there was a cow in the barn and cows are sacred and he could not possibly sleep in the barn with a cow.

Annoyed, the rabbi volunteered. A few moments later, a knock on the door. The rabbi explained that there was a pig in the barn and that he, being very orthodox, could not possibly spend the evening in the barn with the origin of pork.

Finally the businessman said that he would go to the barn. A few moments later there was a knock on the door. Standing at the door were the cow and the pig!

As individual ambassadors here in Bahrain, we should not remain enclosed within our particularities and denominational traditions but be open to enrich one another with our cultural and religious differences.

"Eid Mubarak" (eed-moo-barak) meaning "May Almighty bless this happy occasion for you" is the phrase we need to keep in mind to greet our Muslim friends and neighbors.

NSA Bahrain Command Master Chief

Shipmates,

Congratulations to the more than 3,500 Sailors selected to join the Chief Petty Officer ranks announced Aug. 1!

Forty-two were selected here in Bahrain and we have already started their Induction Season. The selection board convened on June 20 to review the records of 19,588 selection board-eligible candidates.

The board was charged with reviewing pertinent sections from candidates' official military personnel file, which includes performance evaluations, awards and any correspondence the candidate submitted to the board.

Selection criteria include many factors from special assignments like arduous duty to sustained superior performance in challenging leadership positions throughout a career, especially over the last five years. But sustained superior performance is the single most important item that determines selection! I want to also encourage those not selected this year, sit down with your chain of command at a CDB.

Identify strengths as well as any weaknesses, get your record straight and start focusing on next year's board. Keep your head up and be proud of your service as a deckplate leader and focus forward. In closing, if you see any of the new Selectees running around the base, please stop and congratulate them.

MANAMA, Bahrain — U.S. Navy Sailors serving aboard amphibious dock landing ship USS Comstock (LSD 45) participated in a community relations (COMREL) project with the Regional Institute for Active Learning (RIA), during a scheduled port visit in Bahrain, July 24.

Twelve Sailors spent the morning interacting and playing with special needs students at the institute.

The COMREL participants took part in dance classes, yoga classes, an art class and general recreation time with the RIA students.

"I enjoyed the experience immensely. It was the best thing I did in Bahrain," said Yeoman Seaman Justin Powell, assigned to Beach Master Unit (BMU) 1, Beach Landing Team E, embarked aboard Comstock. "Dancing was a highlight for me, but I also had a chance to juggle for the kids in the nursery. I enjoyed that."

According to the institute's website, RIA was created in 1999 to cater to the needs of students with autism, who might otherwise be missed in the school system. They cater to mainstream learners, and students with special education needs.

"I chose to participate because I love working with special needs children," said Ensign Jessica Alexander. "My mom is a special needs teacher, so I have been around them most of my life and I just love being able to make them smile."

Another participant also felt a close personal connection with the students and teachers at the institute.

"I have a family member who is autistic, so I know what kind of sacrifice and dedication it takes to deal with everyday situations," said Engineman 3rd Class Lyzalee Pacheco. "That's why I really wanted to participate."

This was the third COMREL project Comstock, and its embarked units, had the opportunity to participate in while on deployment.

"The children seemed to enjoy us being there, the facilitator and the staff showed genuine appreciation, and the participants had an enjoyable time," said Mayer. "I think it was a big success and hopefully this visit will have a long lasting effect on everybody."

Comstock, as part of the Boxer Amphibious Ready Group (BOXARG), is deployed supporting maritime security operations and theater security cooperation efforts in the U.S. 5th Fleet area of responsibility.

BOXARG consists of the amphibious assault ship USS Boxer (LHD 4), amphibious transport dock ship USS Green Bay (LPD 20) and Comstock.

The ARG is comprised of more than 4,000 personnel with approximately 1,800 Sailors and 2,200 embarked Marines from the 13th MEU.

Other elements of BOXARG include Fleet Surgical Team 3, Tactical Air Control Squadron 11, Helicopter Sea Combat Squadron (HSC) 23, Det. 5, Assault Craft Unit 1, Det. C, Assault Craft Unit 5, Det. C and BMU 1, Det. E.

Navy clarifies revisions to Post-9/11 G.I. bill

By MC1(AW) LaTunya Howard

Navy Personnel Command Public Affairs

MILLINGTON, Tenn. (NNS) — The Navy released revisions to the Post-9/11 G.I. Bill policy Aug. 4, providing Sailors, veterans and their families updated information on their educational benefit options.

“When the Post-9/11 G.I. Bill came about, it was a tremendous undertaking and an opportunity for Congress to reward our service members and veterans for their service to this country,” said Ann Hunter, Chief of Naval Operations for Manpower, Personnel, Training & Education voluntary service chief. “As our policy-makers reviewed the program, they realized there were individual groups, who have also served, that were omitted and that implementation could be made easier.”

The new policy, announced in NAVADMIN 235/11, adds benefits explanations and introduces new changes. Hunter outlined the following major changes:

- All public school in-state tuition and fees are covered.
- Annual tuition has been capped at $17,500 for private and foreign schools.
- Tuition payment tiers now apply to active duty personnel.
- The post-9/11 G.I. Bill will now only pay the net cost for tuition and fees – that is, it will only pay what scholarships, grants and loans do not cover.
- Housing stipends will not be paid during semester breaks.
- Monthly living stipend will be paid based on rate of pursuit.
- Entrance exam fees may now be reimbursed.
- Active duty members and spouses can receive book and supply stipend entitlements.
- Non-degree programs, on-the-job training, apprenticeship training, flight programs and correspondence training are now eligible for benefits.

Most of the changes took effect Aug. 1, prior to the beginning of the fall term.

“One of the big things that affect our active duty members is that prior to this new bill, members could receive 100 percent of their tuition and fees paid for as long as they have 90 days of qualifying active duty time,” Hunter said. “The new bill prorates the payment based on the member’s qualifying time.” Hunter also explained that active duty members will, like veterans, receive tiered benefits, from 40 to 100 percent.

Another significant change will be how the Post-9/11 G.I. Bill deals with other scholarships and loans. Previously, the G.I. Bill issued set amounts based on tuition and fees. The benefit will now pay only net costs after scholarships, grants and loans are applied.

“Net-bill-payer [policy] applies to Sailors when they use tuition assistance (TA). This is referred to as ‘Top Up.’ TA pays first and the GI Bill picks up the difference,” Hunter explained. “Sailors don’t normally get scholarships or loans, so the greatest impact on this policy change will be to veterans, drilling reservists, and dependents, including dependents of active duty military.”

According to Hunter, the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) made this policy change to keep those who used the benefit from pocketing extra funds and to save money.

“The change was not meant to push veterans and dependents away from grants and loans,” Hunter said. “Those who select the more expensive schools may have to get a grant or loan to cover the full costs of the tuition and fees. For example, if the student wants to attend a private school and the tuition is $25,000 annually, the VA will only pay $17,500. The student might want to get a loan for $7,500. The loan would pay first and the VA would cover the rest.”

Additionally, for those students whose private school or foreign school tuition exceeds the $17,500 limit, the Yellow Ribbon G.I. Education Enhancement Program (Yellow Ribbon Program) is available. The program is a provision of the Post-9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2008. This program allows institutions of higher learning (degree granting institutions) in the United States to voluntarily enter into an agreement with VA to fund tuition expenses that exceed the established caps. The institution can contribute up to 50% of those expenses and VA will match the same amount as the institution. This service is available to veterans eligible for 100 percent entitlement and may be available to some children transferees entitled to 100 percent benefits. The Yellow Ribbon program may also be used to cover additional costs for attendance at public schools if the student is paying out-of-state tuition and fees. Members should verify whether the school of choice is a Yellow Ribbon school.

According to Hunter, under the Post-9/11 G.I. Bill, qualified Sailors may elect to transfer all or a portion of their benefits to a spouse or child enrolled in the Defense Eligibility Enrollment System (DEERS). For transferability, Sailors must have served at least six years in the Armed Forces and agree to serve an additional four years, in most cases.

NAVADMIN 203/09 identified exceptions to the additional four-year service obligation, which includes Sailors currently eligible for retirement within four years of the Post 9/11 GI Bill start date.

More information on these changes can be viewed on the Post 9/11 GI Bill website at http://www.gibill.va.gov/benefits/post_911_gibill/Post911_changes.html. Sailors can enroll in the Post 9/11 GI Bill at the Veteran’s Administration website, <https://vabenefits.vba.va.gov/vonapp/main.asp> and sign up for transferability of benefits at www.dmdc.osd.mil/TEB/. Sailors should ensure their service obligation is reflected in their Electronic Service Record at <https://nsips.nmci.navy.mil/>.

medical benefits, entitlements, household goods and unaccompanied bag shipments. The class also includes financial awareness and reverse culture shock training.

Lt. Cmdr. Jason Woodbury, assigned to Commander Task Force 54, said because he attended the class, he could better organize his checkout process to alleviate repetitious steps.

“I would have wasted a lot of my own time getting stuff together thinking that I was ready, only to get to someplace like Housing and learn that I needed three more things,” he said. “It’s a real big time saver.”
