

Significant Environmental Aspects

Each of us in our day-to-day job can impact the environment. An aspect is any activity that can impact the environment. Even office paper and the use of electricity are aspects that have an impact on the environment.

Significant environmental aspects are those which can have the greatest impact on the environment. Currently for NAS Sigonella these are:

- Spills
- Solid Waste
- Air Emission

If your work involves any of these three significant aspects, know and follow your procedures to properly manage them. If not, contact your Environmental Office on base.
