Welcome to Naval Station Newport

Welcome to Naval Station (NAVSTA) Newport, home to 53 naval and defense tenant commands and activities.

Newport is the Navy's premier site for training officers, officer candidates, senior enlisted personnel and midshipman candidates, as well as conducting advanced undersea warfare and development systems. Naval Station Newport's mission is to fulfill the diverse requirements of its tenant commands by providing the facilities and infrastructure that are essential to their optimum performance.

Newport is the home of the Navy's most prestigious educational institution, the Naval War College. As the oldest such institution in continuous existence anywhere in the world, the college is organized to pursue and integrate both academic and research endeavors. Each year, over 500 outstanding mid-career level officers of the Navy, all other U.S. services, civilian federal agencies and international naval officers come here to pursue a rigorous 10-month course of post-graduate studies.

Naval Station Newport is located on scenic Aquidneck Island in the southern portion on the state of Rhode Island. The base is partially located in all three Aquidneck Island communities, Newport, Middletown and Portsmouth. Beautiful beaches, Gilded Age Mansions, colonial architecture and exceptional fall foliage, in addition to great restaurants and wonderful entertainment make the Newport area an exciting place to live. Providence, Boston and New York are within a day's drive as well.

The Newport County School Systems (Newport, Middletown, Portsmouth, Tiverton, Little Compton, and Jamestown) offer quality public education. In addition, there is a variety of private, parochial and independent schools in the area from which to choose.

What is a School Liaison Officer (SLO)?

The Navy School Liaison Officer is the primary point of contact between the military installation, the local schools and the school districts, military families, and the community. The School Liaison Officer (SLO) program helps installation and regional commanders work with state agencies and local school districts to build awareness of the stresses on military families caused by frequent transitions and deployments. School Liaisons are located on all major Navy installations and serve as links between all military families and schools. Parents, educators and community members are encouraged to contact their local School Liaison Officer with any questions.

The seven (7) core functions of a School Liaison Officer (SLO):

- Post-Secondary Preparation

The School Liaison Officer's (SLO) primary responsibilities are:

School Choice – Discover Your Options

Some of the most important decisions parents make are about their child's education. Parents want their child's school to meet the same goals and high standards that they have set. Making the right school choice for your child is extremely important to their long-term success. The right school will offer high academic expectations while offering a safe environment in which to learn. Many families choose where they live based on the school districts and neighborhood schools.

Parents can choose from public schools, charter schools or other public schools of choice, or enroll their child in an independent or private (secular or religious) school, or they may choose to teach their child at home.

All parents want the best possible education for their children. Studies have shown that many service families are accepting or rejecting assignments based on their school options. Commanders and School Liaison Officers are aware of the schooling choice and the quality of the schools surrounding their installation in order to assist families in understanding their education options. Because state governments regulate education, available schooling options vary between states. Additionally, all students have different learning styles and needs. Children within the same family may not learn in the same way or at the same rate. It is important to consider the needs of each child individually.

Understanding school choice is essential to selecting the best school for your child. It is important to remember that you know your child better than anyone else does and trusting your intuition in the decision-making is essential. Making an informed decision means gathering information and doing some research. Here are some quick resources to help inform your decisions:

- Department of Education Resources for Parents and Families
<http://www.ed.gov/parents/schools/find/choose/index.html> offers a series of checklists, resources online to assist parents in making schooling choices.
- MilitaryOneSource – Is a useful resource for obtaining information on installations, schools, and transition. Users may access the services 24 hours a day 7 days a week. The service is toll free from the United States at 800-342-9647; from overseas: (800)-3429-6477. Visit MilitaryOneSource at <http://www.militaryonesource.mil/for-children-and-youth> for information on a variety of education topics and issues.
- The Military Child Education Coalition – MCEC is a 501(c) (3) non-profit, worldwide organization that identifies the challenges that face the highly mobile military child. Go to <https://www.militarychild.org/about/mission-vision> to learn more.

A quick primer on school types:

Public Schools

District Schools are “neighborhood schools” because they are within the town/city where the student resides. They provide free, public education for all students who reside in the boundaries of the school district. District schools get their financing from local, state, and federal government funds. An elected board of education or school committee traditionally oversees the budget and policies of the district schools. In most cases, they must admit all students who live within the borders of their district.

Charter Schools are public schools that run independently of the local school district. These schools receive tax dollars as well as receiving funds from private sponsoring groups. They aim to provide educational innovation, improve academic achievement, and establish multi-cultural environments without regard to economic status. Charter schools must adhere to the basic curricular and teacher certification requirements set forward by the state but are free from many of the regulations that apply to conventional schools and the day-to-day scrutiny of school boards and government authorities. Charter schools may focus on an area of instruction such as specializing in teaching mathematics and science or working with students considered “at risk.” Charter schools are open to all students; however, the “Charter Document” may limit students to a specific geographic area. A lottery is generally used if there are more applicants than spaces available.

Magnet Schools are highly competitive, highly selective public schools renowned for their special programs, superior facilities, and high academic standards/achievement. Magnet schools are operated by local school districts, regional centers, and/or an agreement between schools and districts who share policy and curriculum decisions for the school. Students generally choose to attend a magnet school because of an interest in the school’s academic focus or unique programs such as science, technology, math, performing arts, foreign language, or International Baccalaureate. All students are eligible to attend magnet schools. School districts usually limit the enrollment in magnet schools and use a lottery system to select students if there are more applications than spaces available.

Career and Technical Education Programs are programs for grade 9-12 students who have an interest in specific vocational or technological training. These schools offer specialized technical skills training while they also instruct students in all academic areas as well. Upon graduating from a technical school, students are eligible to go on to a full range of post secondary educational programs. Some technical programs are located in separate facilities from the district high school and some are within the comprehensive high school. Teachers must have state certification as well as special training/experience in the areas taught.

Non-Public Education

Religious Private Schools are private schools, which generally espouse a specific religious belief based on the denomination or faith established by the governing board. Often religious schools have open enrollment and do not require their student body to be of the same faith or denomination, although they do require that the students abide by the rules established by the school leadership. In addition to academic coursework, religious schools usually require coursework in religious studies. Students must apply to attend the school and entrance exams may be a requirement. Private religious schools can refuse admission to any student or dismiss a student after enrollment for an infraction of the rules. Teachers are not required to be certified by the state, though they may be required to be a member of a specific denomination. Teachers may hold a variety of degrees and certifications. Requirements vary from school to school. Tuition costs vary widely. Transportation may be included in the cost of tuition or be provided by the state.

Private Secular Schools are schools without religious affiliation. Many secular schools have a long history and tradition while others are relatively new. Secular schools often give preference for admission to students whose relatives are alumnae of the schools. Some secular schools may offer a traditional education that centers on preparation for college while others focus on an educational philosophy or a specific approach to learning such as those that accommodate individuals with special needs, i.e., schools for the deaf or blind. Tuition costs vary widely. Transportation may be included in the price of tuition or be provided by the state. Teachers are not required to be state certified.

Home Schooling or Home Education is educating your children outside the public, private, parochial school establishment. Parents may decide to homeschool their children for a number of reasons- religion, special needs, etc. Each state has specific mandatory requirements for parents who choose the homeschooling option. Parents may decide to perform the schooling themselves in their own home or a relative, neighbor, professional tutor, or homeschool cooperative may perform the service. Parents who are considering this option should inform themselves completely about time commitments, curricula, relevant state laws, outside resources and available support groups.

School Physicals

Physical Exam Requirements in Rhode Island

All students in both public and non-public schools must show documentation of the completion of a physical examination by the student's primary care provider at two times during their school years:

- At school entry (usually at kindergarten, but may be at any time a student enters a Rhode Island school for the first time) and at 7th grade entry.

The School Physical Form is available through the Department of Health.

<http://www.health.ri.gov/forms/school/Physical.pdf>

Sports Physicals

Students who compete or plan to compete in school sports activities must have a sports physical completed prior to the beginning practice or try-outs. Sports physicals are required on a yearly basis. Sports physicals are generally more comprehensive than the school entrance physicals. Please contact your local school district for more information and to obtain any district-specific forms.

In order to ensure a smooth transition for your child, it is recommended that you have sports physicals completed prior to arriving at your new duty station. If that is not possible, make your appointment upon arrival at your health care provider.

Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA)

The Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) was signed by President Obama on December 10, 2015 and reauthorized the 50-year-old Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), which is the nation's national education law. For the military child, the most important element of the ESSA is that it requires the inclusion of a military-connected student identifier in every Public School data system. Public Schools in Rhode Island are now required to identify military connected students as a group, not individually. This is similar to the way they already monitor the performance and see trends among other student groups identified in the ESSA. Read a great article about this from an Air Force parent at this link: Why does my kid's school need to know we are military?

For more information on ESSA, go to <https://www.ed.gov/essa?src=rn>

State Testing in Rhode Island

The Rhode Island adopted the Common Core State Standards on July 1, 2010. 2018 was the first year of the new Rhode Island Comprehensive Assessment System (RICAS) in grade 3-8 in English Language Arts and mathematics. The RICAS assessments are aligned to the Common Core State Standards (CCSS). Instruction in our classrooms is aligned to these standards in English language arts and mathematics for all students with the core belief that assessment should work as a tool to enhance teaching and learning. Learn more about what Assessments to expect in RI Public Schools at <https://ride.ri.gov/instruction-assessment/assessment/assessment-schedules>

Specific information can be found on the Rhode Island Department of Education website's assessment page at <http://www.ride.ri.gov/InstructionAssessment/Overview.aspx>

School Districts will announce their testing schedules based on the assessments given in their districts. Parents should check the district website for more information on the district's testing schedule.

Graduation Requirements

All Rhode Island public school districts have graduation requirements that use "demonstration of proficiency based learning." Rhode Island requires schools to focus on educating all students toward a successful transition to the post-secondary experience they choose: college, technical school, or the workplace, by providing an education focused on a rigorous and relevant curriculum. Students must earn a required number of Carnegie Units (20 units' minimum; additional to be determined by each individual school district) and they must demonstrate proficiency in a manner determined by the individual school district.

The minimum state graduation requirements, as set by The Rhode Island Council on Elementary and Secondary Education through the Secondary School Regulations, for earning a RI high school diploma, are:

- Successful completion of 20 courses:
 - 4 English Language Arts courses
 - 4 Mathematics courses
 - 3 Science courses
 - 3 Social Studies courses
- 6 additional courses, which may include Physical Education and Health, the Arts, Technology, and Foreign Language
- Demonstrated proficiency in 6 core areas (English language arts, math, science, social studies, the arts and technology)
- Completion of one performance-based diploma assessment (Graduation Portfolio, Student Exhibitions, Senior Project and/or a Capstone Product)

This is the MINIMUM basic graduation requirements of any school in Rhode Island. As graduation requirements vary from district to district, you should consult each community's website and direct any specific questions to them individually. All High Schools have Programs of Study on their websites and those Programs will detail the school's specific diploma requirements. The Class of 2027 will be the first graduating class to fall under new requirements implemented in 2022

TIPS FOR EASING YOUR CHILD'S ANXIETY ABOUT THE NEW SCHOOL

Become familiar with your child's school before your child's first day. Give your child as many details as possible about the new school and the surrounding community in order to ease the first day jitters.

Help your child establish ways to stay in touch with friends at their previous duty station. This gives him a sense of continuity as he acclimates to the new school environment and makes new friends.

Go to <https://anchored4life.com/> to see if your new school is participating in the Anchored4Life program. Anchored4Life is a transition program at Navy locations worldwide!

Encourage children to talk with their teachers. Getting to know their teachers makes it easier for them to ask for help. If you have a young child, make a point of meeting the new teacher personally.

Talk to your children about their school experiences. Encouraging your child to talk about his frustrations in her new learning environment provides her with a healthy forum for expression.

Encourage your child to join extracurricular activities such as clubs or school organizations. This is a positive, productive way to meet people with shared interests.

If schoolwork is challenging, talk to your child's teacher. Children should not wait until they are overwhelmed to voice their concerns. This is a good way to model positive interaction with the teacher.

Finally, do not hesitate to contact your local School Liaison Officer. We are ready and willing to help you with every phase of your school transition!

- Review the checklist and gather any missing documents
- If you know where you will be living, contact the School Liaison to connect with the local schools.
- Find out what the withdrawal process is at your current school and make a plan to withdraw your child from school in an appropriate manner.

2 weeks before the Move

- Review checklists and make sure that all documents are as current as possible
- Remind School of the student's last day. Remember to ask your child's current school for a copy of the records to take with you when you depart.

MOVING BEFORE THE END OF THE SCHOOL YEAR?

- Make a copy of the front cover of your child's textbooks
- Copy course outlines or topic covered from the school Program of Study (esp. for High School)
- Know what to expect with the transfer of credits (call your SLO for information).
This step could reduce a lot of stress!

The MIC3

Resolving Education Transition Issues for Military Families

What Is the Compact?

The Compact provides for the uniform treatment of military children transferring between school districts and states. It was developed by The Council of State Governments' National Center for Interstate Compacts, the Department of Defense, national associations, federal and state officials, and departments of education, school administrators and military families.

What Are the Issues?

Military families encounter school challenges for their children for enrollment, eligibility, placement and graduation due to frequent relocations in service to our country.

How Do I Learn More About the Compact?

You should visit <https://www.mic3.net/>

Which Children Are Eligible for Assistance Under the Compact?

Children of

- Active duty members of the uniformed services, National Guard and Reserve on active duty orders
- Members or veterans who are medically discharged or retired for (1) year
- Members who die on active duty

What Children Are Not Eligible for Assistance Under the Compact?

Children of

- Inactive members of the National Guard and Reserves
- Members now retired not covered above
- Veterans not covered above
- Dept of Defense personnel, federal agency civilians and contract employees not defined as active duty

What Are Some of the Specific Educational Issues that the Compact Covers?

Enrollment

- Educational Records
- Immunizations
- Kindergarten & First Grade Entrance Age

Placement & Attendance

- Course & Educational Program Placement
- Special Education Services
- Placement Flexibility
- Absence Related to Deployment Activities

Eligibility

- Eligibility for Student Enrollment
- Eligibility for Extracurricular Participation

Graduation

- Waiving courses required for graduation if similar course work has been completed
- Flexibility in accepting state exit or end-of-course exams, national achievement tests, or alternative testing in lieu of testing requirements for graduation in the receiving state
- Allowing a student to receive a diploma from the sending school instead of the receiving school

Who Do I Contact in my State or School District to Learn More about What Is and Is Not Covered in the Compact?

- Your School Liaison Officer is your first point of contact about the Compact, but every US State and Territory and DODEA has a MIC3 State Commission!

Is there a Person at the Military Installation who can help me Understand the Compact Issues and Requirements for Local School Districts?

- You should contact the School Liaison Officer at your local installation. For a listing of School Liaisons in your area or across branches of service, <https://installations.militaryonesource.mil>
- At NAVSTA Newport contact Pamela Martin at 401-841-7126 or email pamela.p.martin.naf@us.navy.mil

What Happens if the Member State Does Not Comply with the Compact?

- The Compact provides for a governance structure at state and national levels for enforcement and compliance, but a call to the School Liaison Officer at your installation can be useful in clarifying the provisions of the Compact.
