

111126-N-VE260-101 TOKYO, Japan (November 26, 2011) Information Systems Technician 1st Class Lydale Hyde from Commander Fleet Activities Okinawa, bows while receiving a Zenkokai or Good Conduct Award from Kohsho Kawamura, president of the Zenkokai Selection Association, at the Meiji-Jingu Shrine in Tokyo. Sailors and DoD civilians from Navy bases within the Japan region were honored with the awards for their public service in the Japanese community. (U.S. Navy photo by Mass Communication Specialist 2nd Class Justin Smelley/Released)

111126-N-VE260-113 TOKYO, Japan (November 26, 2011) Sailors and DoD civilians from Navy bases within the Japan region listen to Kohsho Kawamura, president of the Zenkokai Selection Association, before receiving a Zenkokai or Good Conduct Award at the Meiji-Jingu Shrine in Tokyo. Nine individual and four organizations were honored with the awards for their public service in the Japanese community. (U.S. Navy photo by Mass Communication Specialist 2nd Class Justin Smelley/Released)

111126-N-VE260-177 TOKYO, Japan (November 26, 2011) Capt. Richard Weathers, commanding officer of Commander Fleet Activities Okinawa, speaks during the Zenkokai or Good Conduct Award ceremony at the Meiji-Jingu Shrine in Tokyo. Sailors and DoD civilians from Navy bases within the Japan region were honored with the awards for their public service in the Japanese community. (U.S. Navy photo by Mass Communication Specialist 2nd Class Justin Smelley/Released)