

AICUZ and Real Estate Disclosures

Real estate disclosures allow prospective buyers, lessees, or renters of property in the vicinity of military operation areas to make informed decisions regarding the purchase or lease of property. The purpose is to protect the seller, real estate agent, the buyer, the local jurisdiction, and the military. Disclosure of aviation noise and safety zones is a very important tool in informing the community about the expected impacts of aviation noise and location of airfield safety zones, subsequently reducing frustration and anti-airport criticism by those who were not adequately informed prior to their purchase on properties within impact areas.
